The Program Credit Card must be linked to a Triangle Rewards Account at the time the purchase is made in order to collect eCTM. The amount of eCTM collected on fuel purchases depends on the number of litres purchased. A minimum fuel purchase may be required before eCTM can be collected. The rate of collection may vary from time to time and by location and by type of tender used for payment so check at your local Canadian Tire gas bar. You can also collect eCTM on purchases that you make at other merchants that are charged to a Program Credit Card. The rate at which eCTM can be collected may vary from time to time and by location and is subject to change by Canadian Tire without notice. In addition, you may collect eCTM at a different rate if you pay with a Program Credit Card than you would if you use a Triangle Rewards Card or Cardless Method . Purchases made in a foreign currency with a Program Credit Card are first converted into Canadian currency as set out in the cardmember agreement prior to calculating the amount of eCTM that you have collected. with you at the time of purchase of the new part, you must pay the core charge. That charge is refunded to you when you return the old part. Like a bottle deposit, the charge is designed to encourage recycling. When you return the part, the recyclable component is returned to the part manufacturer for rebuilding and recycling. If they are, the core charge will be returned. If they are not, then the customer will not receive a core charge refund. This fee helps ensure that these products are collected, recycled, reused or, when that is not possible, disposed of in the most environmentally friendly way. If none is specified, we offer a one year warranty on most products. Place a stiff paper on top of your head, parallel to the floor and mark the wall. Then measure from mark to floor. Keep the tape snug, but not tight. For men, this may be under the arms at the widest area. Inseam Stand in stocking feet with legs slightly apart.

Measure from the crotch, along the leg and down to the floor. Head Measure the circumference of the head with a tape measure, one inch 2.54cm above the eyebrows. This will compensate for the normal swelling that your feet experience each and every day. Put on the type of sock that you will normally be wearing for the footwear that you are about to select. As an example, if you wear a heavier sock with ice skates, then wear these when measuring your foot. Measure both feet and select the size that is the larger. As you may be aware, many people have one foot that is slightly larger than the other. While seated place your foot flat on a piece of paper. Using a pen or pencil, and holding it as straight upright as possible, place marks on the paper at the tip of your big toe and at your heel. Using a ruler measure the distance between these two points in either inches or centimeters. Refer to the following North American and European footwear sizing chart. Remember to repeat this exercise for your other foot and use the larger measurement when selecting your footwear. Here's our footwear size chart. Keep in mind that kidskin leather is very supple and will stretch a small amount. There are two ways of determining your glove size Measure around the top part of your hand over the knuckles, excluding the thumb. Measure the width of your palm. Here are our gloves sizing charts for the above measurement methods. There should be no excess material at the ends of your fingertips. Use the same sizing guidelines as for driving gloves above. When sizing a youth or child's bike Leg inseam and rim size are important. Here are our bike size charts. Shoes Curling shoes should fit the same way as your street shoes; i.e., if you wear a size 7 street shoe, you should wear a size 7 curling shoe. Here are our curling gear size charts. For example, if your shoe size is 7, your figure skates should be size 8.

The moulded boot fits like a street shoe, so select your normal footwear size and refer to this size chart for the other measurements. If specific sizing in inches or centimeters is available, these sizes are provided. Elbow Pads Elbow pads and glove size go hand in hand and must be fitted together. Helmets To order the proper size of helmet, measure the circumference of the head with a tape measure. Please note helmets include some allowance for adjustment within the size ranges specified by the manufacturer. Please refer to this size chart. Pants In general, pants should fit according to waist size; however, if taller than average, buy a size up for extra length and protection in the thigh area. Shin Pads While seated, and wearing skates, measure the leg from the middle of the kneecap to the top eyelet of the skate. Shoulder Pads Proper fit affords the best protection. You can find the size chart here. Hockey Skates Select one full size less than the regular shoe size. For instance, if you normally take a size 8 shoe, order a size 7 skate. Women wishing to purchase mens hockey skates must first convert their size to a mens size by subtracting one and a half sizes from the normal shoe size. For example, a womens size 9 equals a mens size 7.5. Then subtract one size to determine skate size. In this example, the proper skate size would be a mens size 6.5. It may be necessary to purchase a Junior size skate in some cases. Some sample conversions are shown here. Socks Measure from the top of the ankle to threequarters up the thigh. Here are some typical sock conversions and age groups for proper fit. Aluminum and Composite Sticks Most aluminum and composite sticks are flexrated. Sweaters Jerseys must fit loosely in order to cover all protective equipment and also to let the upper body breathe. For example, if you usually wear a mens large, choose that size for your hockey sweater. Throat Protectors These are adjustable and fit based on collar size.

The tip of the ski should reach the middle of your palm. Select this length of ski. Ski Boots Please refer to the footwear chart at the beginning of this section and note that all crosscountry ski boots are only available in European sizes. Ski Poles Measure the distance from the floor to your armpit. Thats how long your ski poles should be. All fees collected go towards the collection, transportation and processing costs of recycling used tires. Taxes payable on price before rebate.
